DESCRIPTION

There are very few places left on Vancouver Island where you can be ten minutes from a city centre and feel like you've left the modern world behind. Protection Island is one of them. This 9,000 sq. ft. lot sits steps from Smugglers Beach on a gently sloped parcel facing a community garden, in a harbour community that has quietly built one of the most devoted followings in coastal BC.

Life on Protection Island moves at its own pace. Streets carry names like Pirates Lane and Captain Morgans Blvd, golf carts outnumber cars, and the beach is always within reach for kayaking and tidepooling. A tight-knit mix of families, boaters, artists, and professionals call the island home, anchored by the Dinghy Dock Pub—Canada's only floating pub.

For boaters, the location is exceptional. The island sits at the mouth of Nanaimo's inner harbour, one of the most sheltered anchorages on the BC coast. A community dock serves island residents directly, with full-service marine amenities nearby including moorage, fuel dock, haul-out, and repair facilities—all minutes away by water.

The lot is build-ready and offers a rare opportunity to establish a permanent residence, vacation retreat, or investment property in a community that simply cannot be replicated. Properties of this character on Protection Island seldom come to market.

AREA DATA

Protection Island is home to approximately 330 full-time residents across 360 properties, a scale that keeps the community genuinely tight-knit without feeling isolated. Ferry service runs hourly from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., connecting residents to a city of nearly 100,000 with a full range of urban amenities within a short crossing. Despite sitting in the heart of the harbour, most of the island remains quiet, its forest dulling city noise to a murmur. Residents have access to weekly grocery deliveries, private waste collection, and city water, practical infrastructure that supports comfortable year-round living.
